Once you have your pre-test baseline...

My favorite part of this program is the progress guys see in 5-weeks.

After your pre-test, take 30 seconds to send me an email with your pre-test results.

And then after your 5-weeks, email me your results so I can celebrate with you.

This is entirely optional. But it will add another layer of accountability for you.

Here are your Week 3 test instructions

Week 3 Test Instructions

On Week 3, you will be retesting your max

- In 1 minute, do as many Body Squats as you can
- In 1 minute, do as many Pull-Ups as you can
- In 2 minutes, hold a Plank as long as you can (record time)

Write down your max for each movement.

Your week 3 max is your new baseline. Use your Week 3 test scores to calculate your target reps for your workouts in Weeks 3-5.

For example, let's say your pre-test Push-Ups max was 20 and you were doing 10 reps per workout.

If your Week 3 Push-Ups max is now 30, you will be doing 15 reps per workout for Weeks 3-5.
